

QA&TEST presents the latest news!

QA&TEST, the International Conference on Testing and QA Software on Embedded Systems, will hold its seventh edition next week in Bilbao. On 29, 30 and 31 October, professionals of the software industry will meet at Palacio Euskalduna to share experiences and transform their vision of testing.

This year, QA&TEST Programme will have representative companies, like Nokia, Vodafone, Adobe and Logitech, and very special speakers, like Bertrand Meyer. Bertrand Meyer, father of the Eiffel programming language and awarded with Dahl-Nygaard of AITO and the ACM Software System, will give one of the three keynotes of the Conference, about programs that test themselves.

Another keynote will be given by Roger Derksen. He will explain how did testing of the Heathrow Terminal 5 Baggage Handling System works, a process he was responsible for. Derksen will describe how a special importance and attention to the implementation of a testing system was granted to guarantee the proper functioning and implementation of the new system.

QA&TEST will bring together experts and leading companies in Software Testing from all over the world, a fact that confirms the growing interest in software quality and turns QA&TEST into a conference imperative for professionals of this sector.
